Half Of City Reported In Ruins; At Least 3,000 Civilians Killed

By GEORGE BALINT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Sept. 28.—Victorious German troops closed in today on charred and defeated Warsaw, while the remaining authorities of the smashed Polish capital fought fires and strove to care for thousands of wounded preparatory to handing over the city tomorrow.

For the first time in nearly a week the stricken city was not shelled nor bombed as the German forces tightened their grip lest some of Warsaw's die-hard defenders make another desperate attempt to annul yesterday's capitulation.

With half of the city reported laid waste by flame and shell, and with at least 3,000 civilians killed, military commanders last night surrendered unconditionally.

To Arrange Surrender
Gen. Johannes Von Blaskowitz was assigned by the German high command to arrange the surrender.

PA NEW OBSERVES

A bevy of charming young ladies will receive their diplomas of graduation from the New Castle hospital nurses this evening. They will then be prepared to embark upon their chosen vocation of alleviating human suffering, and rendering service to the maimed, injured and ailing. Pa New extends congratulations to these serious-minded young women. We're hoping we won't need their services, but if we would, it won't be hard to look into the faces of these girls and feel that maybe, "it's all for the best."

Those of Pa New's family who have been across into Canada, on their summer vacations, may remember that they had no trouble in getting across the boundary line. Travel is still free between the United States and Canada, but boundary lines have assumed increased importance by reason of the war, particularly as to the shipping of goods. The boundary line was established between Canada and the United States in 1818. Under the agreement with Great Britain, it was to follow the 49th parallel of latitude to the Rocky Mountains. The northern limit was to be the most northern point of the Lake of the Woods. In 1846, a treaty was drawn between Great Britain and the United States which extended the boundary along the 49th parallel as far west as the strait of Juan de Fuca, and thence to the Pacific ocean.

He lost his leg in an accident, and his parents have been unable to buy an artificial one for him. The idea of collecting tin-foil and selling it to buy the leg, was entirely original with the little boy.

Elimination Of Nazism Great Britain's Demand

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The end of Nazism in its entirety, from Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler down to the lowest brownshirt bureaucrat, the restitution of Polish and Czechoslovak independence and definite proof that Germany has renounced all aggression—economic and military—were set forth as Great Britain's only peace terms today.

To this correspondent, authoritative quarters announced their flat rejection in advance any dynamic "peace offers" that may be framed by German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop during his current talks with the Russians in Moscow. It is far more than Adolf Hitler, the man, that France and Britain are warring to crush—it is Hitlerism, the whole Nazi ideology and structure, that the allies are determined to obliterate before a new peace can be arranged.

Well-informed quarters made this clear today when they said that peace proposals, whether red, brown, black, or mixed, will not have the (Continued On Page Two)

FINAL DISPOSITION OF CASE SATURDAY

"We find the defendants, Walter Tewell, Cecil Suber, and James Hagan 'not guilty' and place the costs on Sak Levine, Henry Bell and G. J. Norman" was the verdict of the Lawrence County jury in the case of Henry Bell, colored, who charged the three policemen named, with assaulting him at his home on Moravia street.

Judge W. Walter Braham concluded his charge to the jury shortly after noon yesterday. The case was given to the jury at 12:30. The jury had lunch and then proceeded to a consideration of the testimony. An agreement was reached at 5 p. m. Judge Braham was summoned and took the verdict as outlined above.

Costs in the case had not been assembled at the prothonotary office this morning, but it is estimated that they will amount to somewhere between $150 and $200.

The prosecutor, Henry Bell, and the other two upon whom the costs were placed, are expected to appear in court Saturday when they will be directed to pay the costs, in accordance with the verdict of the jury. Ostensibly Levine and Norman were assessed costs on account of testimony given by some of the witnesses, indicating their interest in the prosecution of the case.

Kelly Favorite As Legion Head

Detroit Veteran Likely To Be New National Commander Of Legion

CONVENTION IS NEARING CLOSE

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Election of a new national commander and other officers took the spotlight at the 1939 American Legion national convention today in its closing session.

Because of the tension created by the European war and important resolutions passed by the Legion regarding American neutrality, the meeting was generally considered the most momentous in the 21-year history of the war veterans' organization.

Raymond J. Kelly, Detroit corporation counsel, was conceded to be a heavy favorite to succeed Stephen P. Chadwick of Seattle as national commander, although several candidates were in the field.

Upon the shoulders of the new commander will fall the burden of carrying out the mandates of the Chicago convention demanding, among other things, that America remain strictly neutral in the European war.

Congress remain continuously in session to maintain that neutrality. The armed forces of the nation be expanded immediately to maximum peace time strength; and that it be prepared to equip and maintain a million soldiers within a year.

Secret Conference In Moscow May Decide Fate Of Balkan Nations

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Sept. 28.—The ultimate fate of Estonia and other nations on the Baltic together with the whole of Eastern Europe and perhaps the world was weighed by the statesmen of Soviet Russia and Germany in secret conversations in the Kremlin today.

Up to a late hour this afternoon, the conferees had not allowed a word to leak out concerning the real nature of their talks. Speculation still ran high as to whether and to what extent Estonia might be held responsible for the sinking of the Russian freighter Metallist with the loss of five lives in Estonian waters yesterday.

Some observers predicted the incident would give Soviet Russia an excuse to seize control of Estonia's coastline, by diplomatic agreement or otherwise, but others felt that the Estonian problem was merely a minor issue in the far-reaching consultations launched by German foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop immediately upon his arrival in Moscow yesterday.

A brief communique issued at noon afforded no real enlightenment on the progress of the conversations.

"Yesterday's Russo-German discussions," the statement said, "dealt with questions relating to events in Poland."

SWEDISH FREIGHTER TORPEDOED BY NAZI SUBMARINE TODAY

(International News Service)
COPENHAGEN, Sept. 28.—Another neutral ship paid the penalty of war today when the 3,325 ton Swedish freighter Nyland was torpedoed and sunk in the North Sea 12 miles off Kviteseid, Norway.

The entire crew of 29 were saved by Norwegian cruisers.

Kviteseid pilots saw the Nyland heading for the coast as two airplanes roared overhead. It was thought they may have been German planes which then radioed her position to a submarine commander.

Soon afterward, a dense column of smoke rose from the ship and a few minutes later she plunged beneath the waves. Two cruisers berthed at Kviteseid rushed to rescue the crew.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 28.—Four midshipmen were killed and two others were seriously injured today when the automobile in which they were returning to Annapolis crashed into a truck near Braden, 35 miles north of Memphis.

Midshipman Frank Thomas, of College Station, Texas, one of the injured, was rushed to a Memphis hospital in a semi-conscious condition. He identified his dead companions as:

Britton Cole of Bryan, Texas.
Phillip Seawald of Amarillo, Tex.
Max E. McConnell of Clovis, N. M.
T. B. Orr, Jr., of Ardmore, Okla.

On Leaves of Absence
Orr died in a Memphis hospital several hours after the accident.

Thomas was in a semi-conscious condition when brought to a Memphis hospital, but his condition is not believed to be critical.

Condition of the other injured midshipman, Charles Levritt, of Amarillo, has not been determined. Leaves of absence found in the clothing of the boys indicated they were due back at Annapolis Saturday. They had left Gainesville, Tex., at 11 a. m. yesterday and apparently had been driving constantly since then.

See Big Demand For American Coal

European War Spurs Demand

Canada May Become Better Customer For U. S. Coal Before End Of Winter

MUCH COAL WILL BE EXPORTED NOW

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—A sharp increase in the tonnage of all classes of coal exported from the United States because of the European war and the mounting demands of the hungry munitions industry was predicted today.
Many local firms handling the shipping of soft coal and coke reported "nibbling" by consumers abroad but few had actual orders in their offices. These firms expected to be shipping bituminous coal soon to feed foreign blast furnaces busy making steel for war.
Meanwhile, the anthracite industry, concerned with the heating of peaceful homes, prepared for increased business in Canada expected next spring.

Canada To Buy Coal
"If the war continues," said Louis C. Madeira, executive director of the anthracite industry, "it is only logical for Canada to buy from Pennsylvania mines 500 to 600 miles away rather than to buy coal that has to be carried for high shipping rates through waters menaced by submarine warfare."
No increased demand from Canada is expected until next spring, Madeira said, because the dominion already has its supply of coal for the winter.

Soft coal exporters report numerous inquiries from abroad. Firms in Argentina, Portugal, the Scandinavian countries, Italy have begun clamoring for the product of American mines.

Indirect Results Of War
Many of the demands are indirect results of the European war, buying American coal because mines on the continent are busy feeding the blast furnaces of England, Germany and France. Polish mines, which can produce 25,000,000 tons a year, are inactive at present as the nation lies prostrate under German victory.

Future Polish coal will be used for steel to strengthen the Nazi war machine.
Although shipments of American coal, already on their way to Scandinavian countries for the first time since 1926, exporters expect the first big increase to develop in the South American field. This is because normal shipments from Europe have stopped.

Demands for American soft coal in Canada are predicted if the dominion sets up munitions plants to outfit the allies.
Meanwhile home consumption has jumped production a million and a half tons a week. Tons produced in the next week ending September 21 in 1938 totalled 7,400,000. This year the corresponding figure was 8,900,000.

arguments that the proposed bill would "repeal American neutrality." He condemned existing law and its embargo as un-neutral. Present law, he said, permits a course similar to that which drew this country into the World War.

"The proposed substitute, which I believe will become law," said Pittman, "greatly strengthens our neutrality law all along the line. In other words, we have put teeth in our proposed neutrality law."

Pittman charged that ignorance and "false, vicious propaganda" have led many to believe that the administration bill weakened the United States' neutrality position. He hammered home again and again his belief that the proposed law would prove a bulwark for peace and "real American neutrality."

"Today," he promised the people, "we intend to enact a law that will absolutely prohibit American vessels from engaging in any character of trade or commerce with belligerents. With regard to that provision the president has no discretion or control."

Prevent Submarine Attacks
With this bill a law, he concluded, American seamen and American-owned commodities cannot be exposed to submarines of belligerent nations.

Pittman's speech and today's committee session came as the embargo repeal opposition expanded its attack on the bill and sought support of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Senator Borah (R) Idaho, chief strategist for the opposition.

Lindbergh and afterwards revealed the fiercer was considering taking a more active part in the neutrality fight with another "Keep America Out of War" speech.

Senator Johnson (R) California, another opposition leader, predicted the impending debate and the current series of radio speeches would strengthen the forces fighting embargo repeal.

"If this bill is seen clearly in its true light, and I believe it will," he said, "the forces opposing its enactment will win."

Administration strategists met opposition claims and attacks with private conviction that even now there are 56 "sure votes" for their bill in the senate, with nearly a score doubtful promising more support later.

The desirability of some kind of a training school for election boards, is one more apparent in the troubles which return judges, now counting the vote cast at the recent primaries, are having with the official returns. Small errors in the counting of the return judges to send out for ballot boxes, and recount the votes cast, in order that they may certify that the returns have been correctly counted. Errors might have been obviated if boards were given a better understanding of the instructions which accompany election supplies. At least the judges of each board should get together previous to election, and have the procedure explained to them. If all returns were properly prepared, the official count could be tabulated in a few days, thus saving time and expense.

OLD LIBRARY SITE WILL BE TERMINAL FOR ALL BUS LINES

structure 38x42 feet in size, which is expected to be completed between December 10 and 15.

It was explained by President Caldwell of the board of trustees of the library that the library is still indebted to the United States government in the sum of $20,000, which debt was incurred through the purchase of the present library site which was formerly occupied by the post office.

Due to the decreased revenue on taxes on city property and the fact that the cost of operating the present library building is more than the old library, the income from all purposes for the library has not been sufficient to balance the budget and made it impossible for the board to refund the debt owed the government.

Negotiations were therefore entered into by the board with the bus companies serving the city, of which Mr. Crawford is the local representative, with the idea of leasing the property for a bus terminal, and as a result the lease was finally entered into. The deal was an exceptionally good one for the city and the library board, as it will enable them to liquidate the debt owed the government in its entirety.

Get Council Approval
Before the deal could be completed it was necessary for the library board to purchase the lease on the property from the present lessee, which did not expire until April 1.

Approval of city council will be necessary before the deal can be finally consummated, but this is expected.

The members of the library board feel that the present arrangement is a most fortunate one, as the return from the property is a very fair one compared to the present market value of the property if it were thrown onto the market for sale.

The lot which will be used by the bus companies for a terminal has been used as a used car parking lot by a local automobile concern.

Agreements Made
Manager Crawford states that agreements have already been entered into with the Penn-Ohio Coach Lines, West Ridge Transportation company, Harmony Street Line Transportation company, New Castle-Mercer Bus company and the Jessmer-Hillville Bus company. In addition, Manager Crawford will also act as agent for the Greyhound Bus company.

In addition to the above, it is expected that the terminal will be used by the Wampum Bus company, Bessemer-Ehon Valley Bus company, All-American Bus Lines and the National Safeway Trailways.

The building which will be erected will contain a waiting room, rest rooms, restaurant and baggage room. Twenty-four hour telegraph service will be provided through arrangements with the Western Union Telegraph company. The bus terminal will be open 24 hours per day, every day in the year.

Take Buses Off Street
The new terminal will take all buses off the streets, the loading and unloading being done on the property under cover. It is stated, the terminal will also be used as a ticket office and dispatcher's office by the New Castle Electric Street Railway company.

Arthur O. Dunn of this city has been engaged as architect for the construction of the building, and the work will all be done by local labor, using local products wherever possible.

GERMANY-SOVIET PLAN TO CARVE OFF MORE OF EUROPE

the contrary, accused the Baltic state of permitting use of Estonian ports as foreign submarine bases.

Back in Moscow after a hurried trip to Tallinn, Karl Selter, Estonian foreign minister, countered with a protest against alleged Soviet aerial violation of Estonia's borders.

Yet his real mission in Moscow was to placate the Soviets and forestall a stroke. Estonian army leaders valiantly avowed their determination to fight to maintain the 21-year-old country's independence, but the boast came from an army of only 110,000 men.

No Actual Seizure
Actual seizure of Estonia, however, did not appear to fit into the Soviet's immediate plans. But the right to place garrisons on islands, controlling shipping and granting of certain shipping privileges in the port, were expected to be sought by the Soviets.

As revealed, Tallinn was the chief Russian naval base in the Baltic during the World war, and Soviet naval strategists are said to hold its use necessary if Russia is again to become a sea power.

Germany, in spite of Von Ribbentrop's presence in Moscow, was said to look with some disfavor upon the prospect of Soviet expansion in the Baltic, and the foreign minister was reported in some quarters to be trying to swing Russia's interest back to the lost province of Bessarabia.

Turkish Minister in Moscow
Istanbul heard that Shukru Saracoglu, Turkish foreign minister, is in Moscow with authority to sign a Turco-Russian pact settling Black Sea and eastern Balkan problems.

Such a pact would involve only one territorial change—the return of Dobruja, Rumania, to its former owner, Bulgaria. In return for Turkey's agreement to close the Dardanelles to all foreign shipping, including British, Russia would renounce her claims on Bessarabia, this report said.

In any event, the allies were said to be nearing reconciliation to the apparent fact that Turkey, formerly a member of the "peace front," now is lost to them.

The Moscow talks also were seen as the possible starting point for a new German "peace offensive," based on the status quo in Poland.

These suggestions met with a scornful advance reply in London, that not even the replacement of Adolf Hitler as head of the German state would stop the allies' determination to wipe out all Nazism before consenting to peace.

Warsaw is to be handed over formally to the encircling German troops tomorrow. Meanwhile comparative quiet was reported on the western front.

DEATH PENALTY FOR GIRL SLAYER

nally assaulting the Dunn girl and then beating her to death after he had lured her and her friend, Jean Bolton, 19-year-old Miami night club singer, from home on the promise of getting them screen tests.

Not Premeditated
Jefferson admitted the killing, but sought to evade the death penalty by pleading the murder was not premeditated, and that Miss Dunn had submitted willingly to his advances.

In his closing remarks to the jury, Prosecutor Phil D. O'Connell blasted this part of Jefferson's statement, demanding the extreme penalty for that contemptible scoundrel who has tried to defame the character of the girl who met death at his hand.

Defense Counsel Jack Salisbury argued that the state had failed to prove a first degree murder case, even though Jefferson admitted beating the Dunn girl to death with a hammer and stabbing her several times. No premeditation had been shown, Salisbury insisted, and he asked the jury to convict a recommendation of mercy, or convict only for second degree murder.

ELIMINATION OF NAZISM IS GREAT BRITAIN'S DEMAND

slightest effect on resolution of the allies to continue the war so long as Hitler or his Nazi colleagues and disciples control Germany.

Calling Hitler-ism by a different name, by replacing Hitler with Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, is extremely unlikely to bring to authoritative quarters.

Britain and France so far have not been impressed by the hail which has been dangled before their eyes since the last month.

Twice the hint came from Hitler himself. First he suggested to Sir Neville Henderson, then British ambassador, that he might retire to his mountain eyrie at Berchtesgaden and devote himself to his former profession and current hobby of painting.

Then, when he sent troops marching into Poland, he named Goering, then Rudolf Hess, deputy party leader, as his possible future successor as chancellor.

Later in a speech by Goering the No. 2 Nazi undoubtedly mentioned for the first time in Germany the possibility of a new Reich government without Hitler.

Neutral observers here hold that virtually the entire Nazi hierarchy must be removed before the allies will talk peace. Well-informed circles point out, however, that now more than ever the allies have no desire to cut up Germany and return it to its pre-Bismarck status.

It is believed he is demanding positive guarantees that there will be no rear-guard action in Warsaw by sniping civilians, such as harried the Germans for four weeks in their swift march through Poland.

Warsaw's defenders, who fought for a fortnight in hand-to-hand combat with the superior numbers and mechanical equipment of the Nazis, are expected to be taken as prisoners of war, for Germany persists in her determination that the Polish army must be crushed beyond all hope of further resistance.

Immediately the Germans move in, swift restoration work will begin to care for the wounded and stamp out any possibility of an epidemic. For several days before the city capitulated, it was reported, its water supply was reported low and what was available, after cisterns and reservoirs were blasted by the constant German pounding, was election—following similar action by many other groups—one of the original seven candidates for national commander withdrew. He was Raymond Fields of Guthrie, Okla.

The other candidates were: Milo Warner, Toledo, O.; Lynn Stambaugh, Bismarck, N. D.; Edward Schieblering, Albany, N. Y.; Jack Crowley, Rutland, Vt., and Roane Waring, Memphis, Tenn. All are lawyers and all, as did Kelly and Fields, saw active service in France in 1917-18.

The Rev. Patrick McDermott of Atlantic, Ia., was regarded as the favorite to succeed the Rev. Jerome L. Fritzsche as national chaplain. A message of greeting from President Roosevelt was given the final session by Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, who said that the president "has a sincere interest in the progress made by the American Legion and in the welfare of our million members."

In a plea for national unity in the interest of neutrality, Gen. Hines said: "It behooves us to do everything we can, both by word and deed, in support of those ideals for which our great democracy was founded, and to render that assistance in the direction of strict neutrality and peace, in the sincere hope that the fires of war which are now burning abroad may be rapidly extinguished."

Because of the "grave issues" raised by the European war, the convention sidetracked action on domestic matters. All its deliberations were aimed at throwing the weight of the Legion behind a determination to keep the United States out of war.

O. N. T. LUNCHEON AT CANFIELD TAVERN

Wednesday afternoon, associates of the O. N. T. club motored to Canfield, as guests of Mrs. Adrian Schultz, who resides in Warren, O., and a former local resident, where they enjoyed a luncheon party at a tavern.

The occasion was in progress at 1 o'clock with the serving of a delicious prepared menu. The time that followed was spent socially and at the close, the hostess was presented with a beautiful gift in behalf of the organization, which is in keeping with their custom.

Mrs. Perry Heaver of the Mt. Jackson-Middletown road will entertain in October, the date to be announced.

BRIDE-ELECT IS FETED AT SHOWER

Miss Ruth Conti, a bride-elect of September 30, was pleasantly surprised on Wednesday evening, at a miscellaneous shower held at the residence of Dorothy Micco, Garfield avenue.

Five tables of cards were in progress and games at conclusion of play, prizes were awarded to Mrs. Maria Diana, Catherine Ritchie, Mrs. Lillian DeMase and Mrs. Helen Letera.

At a suitable hour the hostess with the assistance of her mother, Mrs. Paul Micco, served dainty refreshments.

The honoree was the recipient of many lovely and useful gifts.

Miss Conti will become the bride of Andrew George, on Saturday, September 30, in the St. Vitus church with Rev. Nicholas DeMita officiating.

SIMONS-HIMEBAUGH ENGAGEMENT NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Audley J. Simons of the Pulaski road, R. D. 3, announce the engagement of their daughter, Winifred June, to Vern Himebaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Himebaugh, 715 Brooklyn avenue.

RECENT BRIDE IS HONORED BY CLASS

When the Workers Together class of the Croton Avenue Methodist Sunday school were received in the home of their former teacher, Mrs. Charles E. Allen, of Winter avenue, for dinner Wednesday evening, Mrs. Harold K. Zeigler, of Greenville, nee Kathryn Grove, a bride of the summer, was guest of honor and was presented with a lovely electrical gift by Miss Mary Scott, president of the class, in behalf of the other members.

Election of the officers for next year resulted in Miss Scott being re-named president, Miss Lily Belle Hill vice president, and Mrs. Glenn Carrigan secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. Allen, who had been teacher of the class for the past seven years, was presented with a handkerchief shawl.

In serving dinner, Mrs. Allen was assisted by Mrs. Peg Barbour, Miss Lily Belle Hill, Miss Victoria Scott and Mrs. Harold Zeigler. The next meeting of the class will be in the home of Mrs. Barbour, Fern street, in November.

LOCAL MAN AND BRIDE ON TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gillespie, nee Virginia Wistar, are now honeymooning in New York state and Canada, following their wedding, which was an event of Saturday, Sept. 23, taking place at five o'clock in the First Baptist church of Cleveland, O.

After October 15 the couple will be at home to friends at 11835 Lake avenue, Cleveland, where the groom is associated with the Ohio Ball Bearing company.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John Ward of Boston, Mass., while Mr. Gillespie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Gillespie, West Clayton street, this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. Phillips.

Mrs. James Noeling as maid of honor was the bride's only attendant, while David Allen of Cleveland served the groom as best man.

Since their engagement was made known a series of showers and parties have been given in honor of the bride. They have received many lovely and useful gifts for their new home.

Friendship Club

Mrs. William Paradise received members of the Friendship club in her home on Meyer avenue Wednesday evening.

Card playing was the pastime, prizes for 500 going to Mrs. Matilda Perro, and Mrs. Stella Marcella captured the game prize. The club token was won by Mrs. Agnes Veri.

At an appropriate hour the hostess served a tasty menu, assisted by Mrs. Marie Scrim and Mrs. A. Veri.

October 11 is the date chosen for the next meeting, in the home of Mrs. Rose Appolito, Hazel street.

1907 Club

There were two tables of 500 in play at the 1907 club meeting which took place Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. George Woodring, Alameda avenue. High scores went to Mrs. J. C. Carr, Mrs. Earl Locke and Mrs. Lee Stevenson. The hostess was aided in serving lunch by her daughter Betty.

In two weeks Mrs. Earl Locke of Crawford avenue will entertain.

Celebrate Their Golden Wedding On Saturday

THOS. W. BLAIR

MRS. THOS. W. BLAIR

A host of friends will welcome the opportunity of extending congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Blair, of the Harlansburg road (R. D. 4) on Saturday, September 30, when they will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

New Castle friends will be welcomed at the Blair home on Saturday evening when "open house" will be observed from 7 until 9 o'clock. From 2 until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, friends from Butler will be received. In addition, there will be a dinner at noon for the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair were married in Butler by the Rev. McKee, a United Presbyterian minister. Both are in good health. They are the parents of two children, one of whom is living. She is Mrs. Robert Mounts of New Wilmington. They also have five grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

SIMPSON CHURCH IS SCENE OF WEDDING

In the Simpson Methodist church Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, a pretty wedding took place, when Miss Louise Frazier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Frazier, of 1607 East Washington street, became the bride of Arthur Rhys Llewellyn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Llewellyn, of 1117 North Liberty street.

In the presence of a large number of friends, Rev. Harry L. Johnson, the pastor, officiated with the single ring ceremony.

For her wedding, the bride was attired in a wool traveling suit of olive green, with corsage of Killarney roses. Miss Ruth Llewellyn, sister of the groom, as maid of honor, wore a gray fall suit with maroon accessories, and corsage of pink roses and gardenias. John Reichard served the groom as best man.

Appropriate music was provided by Miss Helen Simlowski, church pianist.

A congratulatory period followed the ceremony.

The guests were received later at the home of the groom's parents, where a wedding lunch was served, buffet style.

Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn departed for a trip to Niagara Falls, and on their return will reside with the groom's parents at 1117 North Liberty street.

The bride has been connected with the Autenreith company for several years, and the groom is in the employ of the Sinclair Oil company.

An array of beautiful and serviceable wedding gifts which they received, were displayed at the bride's home.

Cleveland Wedding News

The lovely wedding of Miss Doris Margaret Hilfman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Hilfman, of Dundee Drive, Cleveland, O., to John T. Fazzone, son of Mrs. A. Fazzone, of West 106th street, also of Cleveland, took place at St. Aloysius church on St. Clair avenue, in the Ohio city, Saturday, September 16, with Rev. Fr. Hallinan officiating.

Miss Eleanor Fazzone, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, and Robert Hilfman, brother of the bride, served as best man.

During the ceremony Giuseppe Gentile, close friend of the groom, rendered Schubert's "Ave Maria," "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother" and "Pontius Angelica." Supplementing the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at Crosby's for the immediate families.

Later in the day a reception was held at the Hilfman home on Dundee Drive, followed by another reception in Lakewood, O. The young couple will spend their honeymoon at Mt. Summit, Pa. Upon returning they will take up residence on Carlyn road, East Cleveland.

Friends and relatives from Rochester, N. Y., Philadelphia, Pa., Providence, R. I., and New Castle, Pa., attended the occasion.

Mr. Fazzone, formerly of this city, is manager of the Franklin Ice Cream Company in East Cleveland, O.

FEAR HAZARD IN STUDY OF ARITHMETIC

Most trouble children have over arithmetic should never happen, since the bulk of it concerns such very simple matters as four plus nine, 15 minus six, and eight times seven. Even in the fifth and sixth grades these basic items are the most troublesome. Why? The learning has been retarded by unpleasant emotions, chiefly fear. The child has had to hurry. He has never learned these items with precision, and his drill, or practice, has been a repetition of mistakes as well as of correct responses.

Let me beg the teacher of the intermediate grades to check each child individually on the simple number facts in addition, subtraction, multiplication. If you can make him feel entirely relaxed and unafraid, you can soon ascertain the nature of any trouble he may have with these matters.

In case he pauses or makes errors with these combinations, get him to tell you what went on in his mind as he tried to think of each answer. If you can make him feel wholly comfortable, you may discover that he has been counting the numbers out in his mind, than which there can be no more wasteful and distressing method.

If, instead, you hurry him and keep on having him go over and over these combinations in more tests, he is likely to make little or no gain in accuracy. Instead, he may become worse. And if he counts or makes mistakes, don't scold him. Don't make him feel he should be ashamed. Make it not a matter of blame at all. Just show him how to learn these items with efficiency. Write out the whole combination (including answers) of those he has trouble with, attacking only four or five at a sitting.

I wish parents would also do as I have advised the teacher. Remember, no show of irritation, no sign of rebuke, no suggestion of haste. The moment you feel the development of a disturbance at the pit of your stomach, walk away. You are not then fit to be in the presence of a child attempting to learn. Go to bed or walk around the block. Pray for poise, my fellow parent or teacher. If you would help the child escape the common tragedies of arithmetic. Some day all stop-work teaching will be outlawed.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

MUST WATCH OUR STEP

The world is again inflamed with war—the so-called civilized world. It is a war of the Occidentals; the Orientals are also having their war. In fact the two Americas are the only peoples that are not at war, barring Canada, and the people of the United States are in a very "hot spot."

It will be remembered that the Moving Picture industry played up the last war to the Nth degree, even before the United States became a party to that war; even to showing such an inflammatory picture as was the dramatization of one of Rupert Hughes' novels, portraying the alleged atrocities perpetrated by the Germans in Belgium.

If this Nation is to be kept out of war, there is a great responsibility resting upon Hollywood just now. It is necessary for the Moving Picture Directors to eliminate war pictures excepting pictures of actual events transpiring during the war that their photographers are able to get across. It is impossible for the citizens of this country to refrain themselves from expressing his opinion regarding the present European combatants.

We have in this country the descendants of all the people involved. Most of them have become good Americans. Some of them have not. Some of them are real enemies of the Republic—citizens to be sure, but bad actors. We have also many descendants of Europeans who are not citizens as yet. Some of them have not even shown their purpose of becoming American citizens.

This Nation does not desire to go to war. War may be forced upon it. It is a rich nation and its riches are envied by all other peoples, and while it is necessary that we take every proper step to preserve our integrity as a Nation, it is up to all of us to be very careful as to what we urge upon our Government.

The sympathies of this Nation, as a whole, are probably with the English people. We speak the English language. A great number of us are descendants of Englishmen and are proud of it, and we would like to help England if the Neutrality Act is amended, so it will permit us to deliver to any foreign power any products of this nation for cash at any port without involving ourselves in the war, but the situation is full of dynamite.

It is, therefore, incumbent the Moving Picture industry not to add fuel to the flame.

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES

In a little while the theater opera was being produced. In certain passages a trumpet should have been blown off-stage for effect.

Great was the conductor's consternation, when, as the first climax came, there was no sound of the trumpet. Very annoyed he continued. The second climax was reached, but still the trumpet was silent.

When the overture was finished the conductor rushed to the wings. There he found the trumpeter arguing with the theater janitor.

"You can't play that thing here," asserted the janitor authoritatively. "There's a concert going on."

SALUTING THE FLAG

It ought not to be necessary to pass any laws requiring respect for the flag. There is only one real source of patriotism—it must come from the heart. If a law were passed requiring all civilians to salute the national colors it would have to be enforced largely by public opinion.

That being true, public opinion ought to secure the desired results without the assistance of law.

The civilian salute to the flag can be established as a popular custom.

throughout the country if all thoughtful patriots merely set a good example for thoughtless patriots. In this case, a good example is much more effective than preaching or force. Patriotism that has to be forced to the surface by outside pressure is of very little value to the government and the institutions which the flag represents.

Readers' Questions Answered

Dear Miss Markel: Our salesmen are about to attend an annual convention. Please give me some points as to hotel registrations that I may have printed in our house organ.—S. M.

Answer: If registering himself only, a man enters his name and address as, John Smith, New York City, omitting all titles, such as Mr., Colonel, Senator, etc., the only exception being "Dr." which hotels prefer to be added in case of emergency among other guests. If a man's wife accompanies him, he should register "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith," never "John Smith and wife."

Roosevelt's Third Term Chances
Think War May Improve Prospects
Mid-Westerner Takes Exceptions

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—One of my readers, out in the mid-west, writes in, mildly reproaching me for my conclusion that overseas warfare improves President Roosevelt's chances of becoming a White House third term.

"It would seem to me," he says, "that there is no logic whatever in permitting war conditions in Europe to cause the American people to approve of the violation of one of the most important traditions as to the length of a president's tenure in office. How can it be argued that we in America should abolish essential traditions of our democracy merely because of war hysteria or war sentiment or because the president at the time happens to be obligated by his office and authority to protect America, so far as possible, from being involved in war?"

"Personally I see no reason for adjournment of what I believe to be the overwhelming sentiment of the American people against a third term for Mr. Roosevelt or any other president. I should hope that newspaper writers would think this thing through and not lend themselves to such a type of political propaganda."

Merely A Prediction

Where my critic errs is in taking it for granted that I was advocating a third Rooseveltian term because of foreign war conditions.

All I said was that the war seems to me to make F. D.'s renomination look likelier. I base this guess on comment I see in the press from all over the country and on comment I hear in official governmental circles, from congressmen in Washington from hither and yon.

Plenty of these chaps are as anti-third term as my critic is—or as I may be, for all he knows. But, like the idea or not, that's what they're overwhelmingly predicting.

"Yes," he answered, "and she praises the wild stuff her brother buys."

"Does your wife," again I questioned, "clean the house from day to day?"

Is it always stuff you're saving that she seems to throw away?"

When your favorite suit has vanished, does she tell you where it's gone?"

"No," he answered, "but I spot it when I meet her brother John."

"Does your wife," I dared to wonder, "wish a gentleman you'd be?"

Does she give you certain orders when you're going out to tea?"

Does she tell you whom to speak to and the proper things to say?"

"Yes," my neighbor sadly answered, "in a most emphatic way."

"Does your wife take all the closet and leave you a single hook?"

For your other pair of trousers do you often have to look?"

"Yes," my neighbor muttered glumly, "that's my Jennie to a T!"

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT
Copyright, 1939,
by The Baltimore Sun

Needed Steps Neglected

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28. THESE days, in Washington, where a "limited emergency" has been proclaimed and the emphasis is laid upon the necessity of "strengthening our national defenses," there is an immense amount of confused activity about relatively unimportant matters and extraordinary neglect to take obviously needed steps.

THERE is much unnecessary posturing and staged stuff. There is the noble White House attitude of adjourning politics without doing anything of the kind. There are calls by the President for non-partisanship in others, without himself being willing to give the one simple and convincing proof that his own nonpartisanship is not phoney—to wit, a flat assurance to the American people that he is not seeking a third term and under no circumstances will run again.

THAT, it is generally agreed, would end the efforts of his intimates to use the war as an instrument to keep him in the White House. Also, it would enhance the chances for success of his neutrality program and of achieving "national unity." But there are other things the President could do to prepare the country to meet any strain that may come besides removing from the minds of the people all suspicion that he hopes the European war will make his renomination possible. Perhaps the most obvious of these is to end the almost intolerable situation that has existed in the War Department for more than a year. The bitter feud between Secretary Harry Woodring and Assistant Secretary Louis Johnson continues with no effort at concealment. Mr. Johnson has made no secret of his belief that he was slated for Mr. Woodring's job and that he wanted it very badly. Mr. Woodring has made no secret that he knew what Mr. Johnson wanted, what Mr. Johnson is doing and saying.

THE President has shown a preference for Mr. Johnson and on War Department matters often has consulted and conferred with him and ignored Mr. Woodring. Mr. Woodring is being the "inner circle" but liked by Mr. Starnes. All of this—and more—has found its way into print. There has been much speculation about now and when Mr. Woodring would be gotten out and various positions, including the Ambassadorship to Great Britain, have been suggested. However, Mr. Woodring, unimpressed by hints, threats or promises, has stuck right along. The real reason, as has been pointed out by the President and himself, admittedly are not cordial while those between him and Mr. Johnson are downright bitter. Even in normal times it is clear that a situation such as this would be more or less demoralizing for the department. Most of the generals, it is said, are strongly for Mr. Woodring, who is personally more popular than Mr. Johnson and a very competent official.

BUT Mr. Johnson, as the Presidential favorite and prospective Secretary of War, has plenty of friends. The net result has been the formation of cliques among the heads of bureaus and a general feeling of unrest. It has been rather astonishing that Mr. Roosevelt should have let this situation continue so long in a period of peace. That he should do nothing about it in a "limited emergency" is a war raging in Europe and men like Mr. B. M. Baruch pointing out the admitted deficiencies and weaknesses of War Department equipment seems unthinkable.

WITHIN the last few days he has been told by some of his friends that he has no right to delay longer; that the national interests require him to end a state of affairs which is growing more and more time; that the only thing to do is to get both Mr. Woodring and Mr. Johnson to resign and name two strong men who will command the confidence of the department and have his own. There is a lot to be said for this. It is a pity he had to be prodded into action, and that he should have waited until the Navy Department. It has been without a head for some months now. Clearly, it is not the President's purpose to appoint Mr. Charles Edison, the Assistant Secretary and present Acting secretary.

THAT sort of thing might run along in normal times without trouble but at a time when it seems vital to have the Army and Navy at the peak of their efficiency it can hardly be defended. Certainly it is not consistent with the President's statement that he is doing everything he can to "strengthen our national defenses." Recently, the report has been circulated that our Ambassador to Belgium, Mr. Joseph Davies, was being considered for Secretary of the Navy, and Gen. "Pa" Watson, recently named secretary to the President, might go to Belgium. The suggestion has not aroused enthusiasm in either the Navy or the State Department.

PRETTY WEDDING AT ST. VITUS CHURCH

This morning at 9:30, before an embanked altar of palms and flowers, in the St. Vitus church, Miss Frances Cozza, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Constantine Cozza, 717 Main street, became the bride of John Iafra, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Iafra, 635 South Cascade street. Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita, officiated, using the single ring service.

The bride, given away by her father, Constantine Cozza, was lovely in a white satin gown, with full skirt, train. Her long tulle veil was caught in a crown of orange blossoms clusters and she carried an arm bouquet of Easter lilies and baby breath. As her only jewelry, she wore a gold cross.

Miss Margaret Iafra, sister of the groom, as maid of honor, wore a pink marquisette, toe length gown, with gold accessories. Her shoulder length veil was gathered in a crown of Johanna Hill roses. John Morgan, cousin of the groom, served as best man.

Supplementing the ceremony, a dinner was served at a downtown restaurant for guests numbering 50, and this evening a reception will be held for friends and relatives in the Unione Calabro club.

In the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Iafra will depart on a wedding trip. East. For traveling the bride will wear a duobonnet ensemble, black accessories, and a shoulder corsage of baby breath. After October 2, they will be "at home" to friends in their newly furnished apartment at 429 Rose avenue.

Mrs. Iafra is a graduate of our local high school in the class of June '38. Mr. Iafra is affiliated with the Blair Strip Steel company. Guests attended the wedding from Pittsburgh.

tional convention possibly it will be different.

That doesn't appear very probable, though.

Just Supposing
Supposing it goes on and we aren't in it yet. The slogan will be, just as when President Wilson was renominated and re-elected.

"F. D.'s kept us out of it." Supposing it goes on and we're in it, the watchword will be: "No swapping leaders in such an emergency."

If we're in, third-term sentiment will be stronger than if we're not. If we're not yet, the Wilson precedent undoubtedly will be semi-remembered. If we're in, everything will be forgotten.

The New Deal won't be an issue. Without a war it would be. It promised to split the Democratic party and either beat F. D. for renomination or beat him for reelection, if renominated. With a war on hand, however, the whole situation is altered.

That's how politicians calculate the future.

Who's Doing the Guessing?
It isn't my guess—or preference. It's what I hear.

There's lots of American anti-war talk. There was the last time. But the last time initially it had some sincerity about it. In 1939-40 it's skeptical.

All this involves the third term question.

We've had more experience than we'd had in 1914, but I'm not so sure that we have, basically, any more sense.

Polish Embassy In U. S. Will Never Surrender

By CLINTON GREEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The Polish embassy in Washington, like the legation of Czechoslovakia will never surrender either to Germany or Soviet Russia, an embassy spokesman announced in an interview today.
The spokesman authorized to speak for Count Jerzy Potocki, the ambassador, declared:
"There will be no repetition of the Austrian case when the embassy was handed over to the German ambassador after the country was taken over by Hitler."
"If representatives of the German or Russian embassy should appear to claim our offices they would be shown the door."
"Our government is still active even though it is in Rumania. It does not change our plans one bit. We are in the same position as Belgium was in 1914 when the Belgians set up their government in Paris."

"We rely on the allies and our strength to once more return to us everything that was taken away."
Quiet filled the outer rooms of the attractively appointed embassy but it was only a veil for the activity which was going on in private offices as embassy officials received messages from their country's representatives in London, Paris and Bucharest.
"We have had advices nearly daily from the government in Rumania," the embassy official stated, "telling us our standpoint should not change because of the happenings in our country. Instructions have also been received regularly from the embassies in London and Paris."
In the case of Czechoslovakia, its embassy is still functioning for the avowed purpose of country unity and in preparations for the day when the Czechs believe their country will be restored.
"Someday history will show we were the first country to say 'no' to Hitler," said the Polish spokesman, "and right will prevail over might."

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 28.—Political observers are watching with interest the outcome of Senator Joseph F. Guffey's latest endorsement for a major federal appointment. Guffey, unofficial dispenser in Pennsylvania of federal patronage, has recommended a President Roosevelt for the appointment as general judge of former Attorney General Guy K. Bard, of Lancaster.

Guffey's score on federal judge appointments recommended by him and approved by the president is now 75 per cent successful. The president approved Guffey's choice of Harry Kalodner, ex-Governor Earle's former secretary, for a federal judgeship. But when Guffey later recommended Judge Michael A. Musmanno of Pittsburgh, for another judgeship, the president rejected Musmanno for Francis Biddle, Philadelphia attorney and TVA counsel. Later, Musmanno was a candidate again for a third vacant post, but this time Guffey recommended Charles Alvin Jones of Pittsburgh, unsuccessful Democratic opponent of Governor James in last year's election whom he had earlier unsuccessfully opposed in the Democratic primary. Guffey's choice, made in an effort to promote harmony within the party, was this time accepted. Whether the president will not accept Bard, a former Earle cabinet official, remains to be seen. Bard, a Lancaster attorney, is well liked in Democratic circles.

Six hundred representatives of Italian, Slovak, Polish, Carpathian, Russian, Ukrainian, Russian, Lithuanian, Hungarian, Croatian, Serbian and Greek nationalities are expected to attend the first annual dinner of the Naturalized Citizens' Division of the Republican state party. The meeting and dinner is scheduled for today at Harrisburg. Present will also be 157 county chairmen, vice chairmen and executive committee members. Scheduled speakers include Governor James, G. O. P. State Chairman James P. Torrance and Secretary of Commerce Richard P. Brown. The Republican state committee announced that among the guests will be Republican National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton, U. S. Senator James J. Davis, members of the governor's cabinet, and the state executive committee. The Republicans billed the gathering as the first of its kind in political history in any state.

Appointments to state posts, it was reported, would continue at the slow pace which has characterized the turnover in state personnel since the advent of the James administration. A survey ordered made by the governor of all Democratic employees still on the payroll gave rise to reports that a complete sweep would be made before the November election, but Republican leaders were quick to deny this. Characteristic of personnel changes throughout the state as a whole, in Dauphin county from which the greatest number of state employees are recruited, 1,000 employees who served through the Earle administration are still reported on the payroll with only 404 Republicans.

First Aiders And Life Savers Are Organized Here

Equipment Will Be Provided So That Each Member In Group Can Function

A large meeting of first aid instructors and life saving instructors of the Lawrence County Chapter of the American Red Cross was held in the Chapter House to prepare these two groups for active work on the disaster relief committee.

Harry Cullford, chairman of first aid, and Charles Brest, chairman of life saving and water safety, carried on the discussion and named the following captains and their assistants: Wilfred Paul, E. T. Tinstman, Harry Bolinger, Earl W. Dean, Omer Pink, D. Chirozzi, Charles Brest, W. G. McCune and Boy Scouts. The assistants are as follows: Mrs. E. Robertson, Mrs. A. Jones, Helen Adams, Mrs. C. Frazier, Mrs. M. Wilkins.

Each one of the instructors will be fully equipped with a haversack containing the necessary articles for immediate first aid. This committee will be under the supervision of Alex McCready, co-chairman of disaster relief preparedness. Similar groups are being organized by the other chapters of the service of the disaster committee and will be in readiness to serve Lawrence county at any time.

VENDOL IS QUICKEST AND BEST MEDICINE I HAVE EVER TRIED

Says it seemed no time before the sour, acid indigestion and gas were gone, nerves calm, and other troubles checked after Vendol relieved constipation.

Vendol gives the most satisfying relief from constipation, sharpens the appetite for wholesome food to replenish the blood, helps cleanse the body of wastes, which in turn promotes a rapid return of tone throughout the body. Mr. Tony Kucel of Bessemer, Penna., tells of his happy experience with this medicine, as follows:

"For several years I was daily constipated, which made me suffer from excess acid condition, gas, sour stomach, palpitation and nervousness, which often extended into the night so that I couldn't rest well. Seemed everything I ate disagreed with me, and many times I'd feel dizzy with spots before my eyes.

"But I feel like a new person since I took a treatment of Vendol and the little Vendol laxative tablets. They gave the most satisfying relief from constipation, then all the troubles bles just passed away. It didn't seem any time till I could eat hearty meals, yet never have any trouble as before, and I seldom ever get up at night. I'm thankful for Vendol and recommend it to everyone."

Most all druggists sell Vendol, so it is easy to get, and costs but a few cents a day, and will do you a world of good. So come to Eckerd's of New Castle, 118 E. Washington St., at once and begin taking this amazing Root, Herb and Alkaline medicine today.

Four-Grange Rally At East New Castle

"Neighborhood Night" was observed by four granges—New Bedford, Westfield, North Beaver and East New Castle—at the East New Castle Grange this week. The program was in charge of Westfield's lecturer, Alice Fullerton.

A musical reading with its theme, "The Advancement of Agriculture," was a highlight. It was written by Alice and Errol Fullerton. Wilda Fullerton was the reader.

East New Castle Grange meets next on October 10. Ruth Allison will be in charge.

Lewis Is Back Home After Trip To England

David Lewis, of 411 East Lutton street, has arrived home after spending a month visiting with relatives and friends in Wales and other parts of Great Britain.

Since his return to New York about a week ago, he visited in the New England States and the New York World's Fair.

After stating that he enjoyed a fine trip of six weeks, Mr. Lewis goes on to state, "when war was declared, the only thing that was noticeable over there was that there would be no bright lights on the streets after dark, and every bus and vehicle carried blue lights as a precaution against air raids. Business and work went on as usual, people going on vacations, as if nothing had happened. After a week of dark streets I got used to it, and went to bed earlier. The only gloomy spots were in the homes of parents who had boys leaving for the front. I saw two transports with soldiers leaving for France who were in good spirits, but the parents would feel different, not knowing whether they would return or not. That is where the gloom comes in.

But there was no gloom on the S. S. Aquitania. Passengers were all in high spirits, thinking of returning to their native land and the land of their adoption, all anxious to get back to America. I did not see a long face all the way over. We left the Isle and Wight Saturday, September 9, with a sub chaser as convoy for 36 hours, and after a zig-zag route we arrived in New York early the following Saturday, and I did not hear of anyone losing a night's sleep. We had movies three times a day, all kinds of games and singing, even a Gymnastic (singing festival).

I have crossed the Atlantic five times and on my return every time I see New York there is a thrill. I love America, the land of my adoption, but I also love the land of my birth, and if I had the ways and means would visit it often. I travelled every day I was in Wales except Sunday and it is as beautiful as ever.

I left Wales 40 years ago and many changes have taken place since, all slums have been done away with and many modern duplex homes built. Everywhere working conditions are better. I was surprised to meet four Welsh coal miners in Paris for a vacation, which was not heard of 40 years ago. The Welsh people today enjoy life not in riotous living, drinking, etc., but as God would have it. They are getting back to the old religion of days gone by. Let us pray that this war will not last, and that the people of Wales and the world will have an everlasting peace."

Copperweld Plant Takes Warren Site

Proposed Site At Glassport Too Small For Proposed Expansion

Announcement was made at the close of business Wednesday by S. E. Bramer, president of the Copperweld Steel Company of the intention of the company to build a new plant at Warren, O.

Decision to locate in Warren was due to the fact that there was insufficient land available at Glassport to permit installation of furnaces and rolling mills and provide for the possible need of future expansion.

The new plant will produce steel to be used in the company's manufacture of copper-covered steel wire, rods, and strand. The company now finishes these products in its plant at Glassport and buys its steel from outside sources. The Warren, O. site is one formerly used by the American Puddled Iron Company and contains 423 acres. Two large and two small electric furnaces will be built.

State Commission Decision Reversed

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28.—The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission and the supervisors of Harmony township, Beaver county, as interveners, were reversed by the state superior court Wednesday in efforts of township authorities to obtain the same water rates as residents of adjoining Ambridge borough.

Harmony township officials challenged the right of the borough of Ambridge to charge them rates different from those in the borough. The borough owns the water plant. The Public Utility commission held that Ambridge borough was required to treat the customers outside the borough as if the whole plant were that of a private water company.

The superior court agreed with the borough of Ambridge that a different rate may be established for outside water consumers and ordered the Harmony officials' complaint dismissed.

THIRTY-THREE TEACHERS MAY LOSE POSITIONS IN WHEELING SCHOOLS

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 28.—Thirty-three teachers in Wheeling's public schools will lose their positions unless they are residents of Ohio county at the beginning of the next school term, the board of education has decreed.

Action that only Ohio county residents, was taken by the board after numerous complaints had been received because teachers were being hired who resided in Eastern Ohio and Pennsylvania, while local persons were unable to secure jobs. Superintendent J. P. McHenry was ordered to refuse contracts to all teachers who are not legal residents of the county for the 1940-41 school year. It was said that 33 of the 450 teachers are non-residents.

Flood Of Letters Sent To Congressmen May Smash Former Records

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—A flood of letters which may smash all records continued to swamp offices of members of Congress today as their constituents urged them to vote for or against retention of the neutrality act arms embargo. The deluge is so great that it may constitute a virtual referendum in districts of scores of congressmen by the time the House considers the question, assuming that the Senate votes to lift the embargo. While the House Bloom bill modifying the neutrality act passed the House and is now before the Senate in different form, it must be returned for House action before it can become law. On the original test the House voted to retain the embargo.

In anticipation of a House vote, thousands of voters are sending letters, telegrams and petitions to the 435 members of the House. The number has reached hundreds of thousands for House members alone. Because the House is usually responsive to expressed desires of constituents, it is possible that the letter-writing campaign may prove the decisive factor in the historic battle over the arms embargo.

Rep. Bolton (R) Ohio, who is keeping a "score sheet" on the mail, listed 5,946 constituents as favoring retention of the arms embargo, with 190 in favor of lifting it.

Segregates Letters
Because of charges that the letter campaign to retain the embargo is the result of pressure by propaganda groups, Bolton's office force segregated the letters.

A total of 2,950 individual letters and telegrams urged retention of the embargo, 88 sent printed slips and cards and 2,908 names were on petitions.

Of those favoring the lifting of the embargo, 101 sent letters or telegrams and 89 sent printed slips. "My mail is heavier than it was at the time of the court reorganization plan and probably breaks all records for expression of constituents on a pending issue," said Rep. Halleck (R) Indiana. "My mail is overwhelmingly—I'd say 20 to 1—to retain the embargo."

Rep. Nichols (D) Oklahoma, declared that the letter-writing campaign will have no effect. "I've just come from my district," he said. "The people want the embargo lifted. They want to follow President Roosevelt. Congress will vote overwhelmingly to lift it."

A curious sidelight on the battle in the special session is that some members of the House are afraid to go home—even though the House has no important business before it.

One northwestern congressman, who planned to remain at home for a month, came to Washington yesterday. He said that constituents demanded that he "get back on the job and keep us out of war."

Another congressman said that he wanted to go home for a week, but was afraid that his constituents would say he is "laying down on the job."

This fear was confined chiefly to representatives from small city and rural areas, where voters soon learn when a congressman is home.

Correct this sentence: "I scratched another car when I backed out," said he, "so I had to wait an hour till the owner appeared."

To Survey Alaska To Determine Site Of New Army Base

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—A second survey of Alaska and its environs to determine on a site for the newly-authorized $4,000,000 army air base will be initiated at once, the war department announced today.

Two congressional leaders in military affairs—Rep. Snyder (D) Pennsylvania, chairman of the Military Appropriations subcommittee and Rep. Starnes (D) Alabama—will accompany a military mission on the survey.

Funds already have been voted by congress for establishment of the new base, a vital part of the American triangular defense in the Pacific.

On a preliminary survey, war department officials said, a site near Fairbanks, Alaska, was considered the most logical for the base. Information gathered on this survey will be re-examined by the new mission.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—A "photography parade"—which doesn't miss any era of the development of that art since 1880—is getting the eyes of pedestrians this week at the window of the Western Union office on East Washington street.

E. E. Seavy, one of the district's pioneer photographers, arranged the exhibit in celebration of his 49th year of practice in the profession. Photography is 100 years old this year.

Seavy said: "About all we made when I entered the business a half century ago were portraits—now only 50 percent of the business is portraits. The rest is commercial or industrial work. Another popular type is illustrative photography for magazines."

Seavy smiling invited attention to the soaring interest in amateur photography when queried as to the popularity and future of his profession.

Bergdoll's Son Goes On Stand To Aid Father

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Wide-eyed and serious, 12-year-old Alfred Bergdoll mounted the witness stand today to aid his father, Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, America's No. 1 World War draft dodger.

The elder Bergdoll is being court-martialed on charges of desertion and escape resulting from his flight to Germany in 1920 following his arrest as a draft dodger.

Hesitantly, young Alfred said he "didn't think so" when asked whether he knew the nature of an oath. He brightened, however, when this question was asked: "Do you understand what it means when you raise your hand and swear to tell the truth?" Alfred nodded.

"Yes," he said, "it means I shouldn't tell a lie."

Claim Three Men On Two Payrolls For Same Period

Testimony Developed In Trial Of Slippery Rock College Officials

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., Sept. 28.—Three men were on both WPA and Slippery Rock State Teachers college payrolls at the same time, it was testified today at the trial of college president, Dr. Charles S. Miller, and suspended bursar, David V. Ketterer.

The college superintendent of grounds and buildings, Joseph Glaspy, identified the men as Oscar Hallberg and Lewis M. Double, WPA foremen, and Thomas McCann, a timekeeper.

A comparison of the records held by Glaspy and Ralph Brown, chief timekeeper in the district, showed each of the men was on both payrolls for a month last year.

Late yesterday it was testified that a payroll check was made out to a man who never worked at the school and was deposited to the account of the bursar's wife.

Simison Questioned By Four Officials From Erie County

Four officials from Erie county, the district attorney and three detectives, visited John P. Simison in the county jail Wednesday evening, where they questioned him in connection with an Erie county case in which A. H. Watkins was kidnapped and robbed of $1200.

Watkins was forced into an automobile as he left a dairy plant where he was employed. He had the money in a small bag. It is claimed that a prisoner in the Erie jail had tipped off Chief of Police Christoph that Simison was concerned in the robbery, and had promised to split the loot with him, which he did not do.

Sheriff M. M. Ingham was not present when the Erie officials had their interview with Simison, but they expressed themselves as satisfied with the results. Simison is in jail here on a robbery charge.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Start To Place
New Poles Along
Liberty Street

Plan To Complete Lighting Project That Was Started Sometime Ago

Quite a number of new poles are being set along Liberty street in the Seventh Ward, preparatory to completing the new lighting project started sometime ago.

A sufficient number of poles will be set at this time to hold the new type light standards. According to officials of the line department of the Pennsylvania Power Company, the new standards have as yet, not arrived for the work, although they have been ordered.

With the poles being set now, the new lights will be hung in place just as soon as they arrive, thus saving a great deal of time later.

DEPARTURE TIME OF
LAST MAIL CHANGED

Due to the change in train schedules, the departure time of the last mail to leave the Mahoningtown post office daily has necessarily been changed.

According to Edwin McBride, superintendent of the office, the last mail will leave at 5:30 o'clock in the future, and all items intended to get out of the office the same day should be mailed before that time. Originally the last mailing schedule was 5:50 o'clock each day.

CLASS TO ELECT

Members of the Young People's Bible class of the Mahoning Methodist church will have an election of officers and business meeting tonight in the parlor of the church. Following this session the group will go to Tindall's at Willow Grove for a wiener roast.

State Leaders
Support Plan
Of President

Several Republican Leaders For Repeal Of Arms
Embargo

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Sept. 28.—As Congress prepared to open its debate on the neutrality act, President Roosevelt's plea for repeal of the arms embargo against belligerents today received the support of several Republican leaders of the state legislature.

Sharply cutting across partisan lines, Sen. G. Mason Owlett, Toga, majority leader of the senate and speaker of the house, J. Turner, Delaware, expressed their support to the president's stand.

"I'm inclined to support the president," said Owlett, "provided congress enacts a cash-and-carry plan." Turner said he thought a "wide open door" permitting all to buy arms here under a cash-and-carry plan was the most neutral attitude that could be taken. Turner added he favored a return to international law.

Sen. George Woodward, Philadelphia, chairman of the federal relations committee, and Sen. Weldon B. Heyburn, Delaware, chairman of the law order committee, also favored the president's stand.

Sen. Frederick T. Gelder, Susquehanna, president pro tem of the senate, while tending to favor repeal, said it was unfortunate that the question of revising the neutrality act had to arise after war had already begun.

"As far as keeping us out of war, it won't help one way or the other, whether the embargo is retained or repealed," commented Gelder.

Gelder expressed the opinion that the greatest danger of America becoming involved in the war was through an overt act committed by one of the belligerents which would arouse American emotions, as the sinking of the "Lusitania" did in 1915. That, he said, probably would happen.

"I'm inclined to think that in that case it might be well to appeal the embargo law," he stated.

British Report
Bombing Efforts
Over Battleships

(International News Service)
LONDON, Sept. 28.—The British naval squadron which was attacked by German bombing planes in the North Sea yesterday was covering a damaged British submarine when enemy bombers appeared out of low clouds and carried out dive bombing over the battleships, it was discovered today.

Other bombers flying at a height of 12,000 feet took advantage of a momentary break in the clouds to attempt to hit the cruisers.

British anti-aircraft guns made such an effective barrage that effective bombing was prevented, it was stated.

(Berlin asserted a British aircraft carrier was destroyed and a battleship damaged, but London denied that any of the craft were hit.)

Mehard Is Given
Three-Year Term

Former Pittsburgh City Solicitor Must Serve Term, Will Not Appeal

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28.—Former City Solicitor Churchill B. Mehard, convicted of taking bribes in Pittsburgh's $375,000 consent verdicts scandal, today was under a three years' prison term from which, he declared, appeal will be taken.

An army brigadier-general and a World War hero, Mehard, through his attorney, Oliver K. Eaton, asked that the court take into consideration his alleged illness before passing sentence. After conferring an hour with Attorney Eaton and two other local trial judges, Visiting Judge Culver pronounced sentence of one year each for the three bribery convictions against Mehard.

The sentences are to run consecutively, making Mehard eligible for parole in one year. Eleven other counts in the indictment remain against the former city solicitor who was divorced and remarried between the time of his conviction and sentencing. The remaining counts were cared for in a suspended sentence.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

SIGNS OF RETARDATION IN BABIES

As we explained yesterday, there is no immediate cause for alarm if your baby doesn't pick up things as quickly as the child next door. This is no indication that the baby isn't developing mentally. However, there are a number of ways in which you can tell whether or not there is reason to fear that the baby's brain has met with some accident.

The normal child should begin to sit up at the age of six or seven months. Here, however, the child's build has a tendency to accelerate or delay the accomplishment. If he is fat, then he won't sit up as soon as a thin child will, but if a child has reached the age of a year without showing any desire to sit up, then your doctor should give him a very complete examination.

As the child grows older he should attempt to move himself about. At first this will be by an awkward, ungainly crawl. He will become more and more proficient at crawling until he begins to show a desire to get up on his feet. It is very difficult to set an age when the child should stand, or begin to walk, for this development, even more than sitting up, depends on the physical development of the child. Children will sometimes take a few steps at the age of ten months; some walk at a year; some are two before they walk, so you see we can't set any definite age when the child should be walking.

The normal child will develop teeth at six months of age. Sometimes, of course, they may be a little later than that but if no teeth have appeared at a year I think it would be well to investigate.

At the age of seven months the child will begin making his first attempts at talking. In most cases this will be the familiar "da da". Now, I hate to disappoint proud fathers, but I am afraid this isn't in recognition of his dad. It just happens that this is one of the easiest sounds to make.

The change from mere noise to sounds resembling words will come slowly and gradually in the first 18 months or two years. If your child reaches the age of 12 or 15 months without making any vocal sounds, then it would be wise to consult your doctor.

There is little reason to go beyond this point. A mentally retarded child will not be able to learn the games that other children play; he will tend to be awkward in his movements, his speech will be indistinct and blurred. In severe cases the child will never be able to attend school because his mentality never develops sufficiently.

As you will readily understand, no doctor is going to make a diagnosis of mental deficiency on any of these signs. He must have a clear history of the child's development from birth and if these are several signs of retarded development he may make a positive diagnosis. He certainly will want a history of the birth: whether it was slow or rapid, whether instruments were used or not. He will want to know all about the period after birth, whether the child was drowsy and lethargic, whether he was difficult to feed.

If the doctor is suspicious that something has happened to interfere with mental development, he may advise an X-ray of the brain.

Store Clerk Drops Expensive Ring In Customer's Parcel

Mistake Has Happy Ending
When Customer Returns
Ring Two Days Later

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28.—It's a pretty safe assumption that next time Margaret Woods, 22-year-old Five and Ten Cent store clerk wraps up a package she's going to be pretty careful what goes into it.

Recently she wrapped a parcel for a customer and failed to notice a $450 ring on her finger had fallen into the package. The ring, she said, belonged to her mother and she was wearing it in the store "for safety."

Two days later a woman customer returned the ring, simply dropping it in Margaret's hand without saying a word. Said Margaret: "Mother was out of town. I saw her ring on the dresser and took it to the store with me for fear it would be lost."

"I had it on my finger to give to mother when she stopped in the store. It fell off into a package I was wrapping but I didn't notice."

"A woman came in the store two days later and asked whether I was the girl who waited on her. I said I didn't know. I thought maybe she was going to say I'd short-changed her or something. But she asked if I'd lost the ring."

"When I said I'd lost the ring, she just put it in my hand and walked away. I started to cry. I feel terrible because I didn't thank her."

Senatus Romanus Has Meeting At Senior High

The initial meeting of Senatus Romanus, honorary society for the Latin department of the senior high school, was held in the music room of the school, Tuesday evening. The program opened and closed with Latin songs led by Carolyn Cosel, with Jane Walls at the piano as accompanist.

The chief business of the meeting was the election of officers to replace those who graduated in June. Kathryn Wilson was elected scribe in place of Helen McCommon, and James Hares, quaestor, in place of Constance Watt.

Named For Members
Names were presented for conscript members for the current year. Ten percent of the regular membership may be elected to this type of membership. Regular members hold membership for the period of their stay in high school. Conscript members are elected for one year only. At present three places only are available. Students nominated in this connection were: June Aubel, Gladys Brown, Mary Lou Fenati, Lena Mae McConnell, Helen Louise Singer, and Roy McClelland. If these students have a record for consistently high scholarship in Latin, their names will be submitted to the club at its next meeting in and three will be elected.

Students newly eligible for membership through their outstanding work in Latin last year, will be called for initiation at the next meeting. They are: Jean Cameron, Earl Carr, Alice Di Carlo, Eleanor Eckles, Edna Flannery, Martina Lynch, John Albert Marrangoni, Mary Jane McGinty, Evelyn Reno, Gerhard Schlumberger, Joan Simpson, Kathryn Wilcox, and Stanley Yarkowicz.

STEELS AND RAILS LEAD ACTIVITY IN UPSWING OF BUSINESS
(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, a. Sept. 28.—Steel and railroad activity led the industrial upswing in Pennsylvania during the first three weeks of the current European war, a special report by the Pennsylvania business survey of the Pennsylvania State college revealed Wednesday.

"Department store sales in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh were rising also," the report said, "but at the same rate as a month ago, indicating that the effects of the war boom are to be found in industrial production rather than in consumption."

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Sheriff Maurice A. Fitzgerald of Queens county, N. Y., recruits 1,200 deputies to keep his borough neutral and to hunt spies and saboteurs. Such vigilance is to be commended, considering our laxity and the price we paid for it in the period preceding our entry into the World War. But we aren't in any war yet, and there is reassurance in Mr. Fitzgerald's statement that there won't be any witch-hunting.

Spy hysteria is one of the least pleasant accompaniments of war tension. Just a jumpy light-socket near your bedroom window and an over-zealous neighbor may be turning you in to the John Laws for signalling to some accomplice in disloyalty. Then there is to be considered the opportunity which unscrupulous persons have for venting hatred and grudges under conditions of war psychology, or its incipient peace-time prevalence. It seems to me that the president's salutary injunction to keep neutral might well carry an admonition not to suspect and persecute our neighbors just because we don't like them. Mr. Fitzgerald says his anti-spy legion is made of doctors, lawyers, professors and other professional men who can be depended upon for good sense and caution in suspects. That is, of course, as it should be.

Counter-espionage is a highly professional job which, happily, has been turned over to the superlatively efficient Federal Bureau of Investigation. A current news story from Washington reveals that more than a year ago Mr. Hoover's G-men were indentured for intensive training in potting wreckers, spies and subversive activity in general.

There is satisfaction in the news that these preparations have been made and are being carried on at a time when it can be done without recourse to extra-legal devices. The liberties and safety of honest citizens are in less jeopardy under skilled and official scrutiny such as this than under the free-for-all of amateur spy-chasing.

Furthermore the G-men can do a much better job of getting at the real criminals than all the rest of us put together. They not only have the benefit of their specialized training, but they work in an organization which has been going for years, and which has the number of just about every trouble-breeder in the country.

I'm for the utmost vigilance, but I believe that one way to keep out of war is to pipe down on detective story thrills and romantic excitements, keep our shirts on and let the professionals attend to all this, in their own quiet way.

The amateur detective is a standing joke in our country—the lad who takes a correspondence course in trailing evildoers, gets a diploma and a tin badge and starts out on the trail. That has been a considerable ingredient of a lot of our hay-loft reading, and the urge has been by no means lessened by the pulp magazine fiction with which millions of our citizenry, principally youthful, have been fed.

After there had been about $30,000,000 worth of damage in the era just preceding our entry into the World War, we did a hurry-up job of recruiting intelligence services, military, civil and quasi-official. Many of the zealous young counter-espionage agents were cast in the above romantic pattern. While it all came out all right in the end, we would have done a lot better had we known some of the facts of life and set up a workmanlike organization like the FBI.

We learned something. There is no question but that in the years in between wars we have vastly improved our protective intelligence work, and we have set it apart as a highly specialized detail of national policing, which it should be.

The Army Intelligence Service, I am told by an army friend, is incomparably better than it was in the last war. As I see it, it is important in all our consideration of spying and sabotage, to remember that we are not in the war, that we are neutral and that we intend to keep out of war. In this light it is clear that effective counter-espionage is a superb bulwark for peace. With slackness in this field, a few bridges blown up, another Black Tom explosion, time-bombs sinking ships—all this would fan up the war fever faster than anything you can think of.

Catching the spies and saboteurs before they do their stuff certainly will help a lot in keeping us out of war—and that is our main idea just now.

New Castle In Valley Tonight For Grid Game

Will Meet Beaver Falls High At Reeves Stadium, Date Of Game Step-ped Up

NO CHANGES IN STARTING LINEUP

New Castle high's big "Red Hurricane" football team will be down at Reeves stadium at Beaver Falls tonight, trying hard to win the third straight victory of the year and its second class AA conference game from a hard fighting, snarling Beaver Falls Hi Tiger eleven. The kickoff is slated to occur at 8 o'clock.

With the Butler and Youngstown East games in the bag, the locals will give all they have tonight to add the Tigers to the victim list. The game will no doubt be a real test for the "Canes" as the Beaver Falls high teams in the past have always proved hard to check. Last year the red jerseyed horde eked out a scant 6 to 0 win and had a hard time to do it.

Valley Team Heaviest

Beaver Falls will have only one man, Earl Housholder, in the lineup tonight of the 1938 team that faced New Castle. New Castle will have Piccirillo, Cennamo, Kulnis, Gender, Roberts and Lauro in the lineup that started against Beaver Falls. If anything the local hold the edge in veteran material. Coach Frank Walton has drilled together a fast team as shown by their 13 to 0 victory over Burgettstown last week. He is confident that his Orange and Black Tigers can take New Castle this year.

If anything, Beaver Falls will take a big weight advantage tonight over the locals—Johnny Davidson, 160, will be at an end, while at the other end will be Paul McKee, weighing in at 175 and reaching up 6 feet 2. The tackles, Fred Parkas, 190, and Wayne Groom, 185, will top both Kulnis and Castrucci in weight.

Expect Big Crowd

The two Beaver Falls guards, Mike Treiber, 175, and Hank Ross, 155, will have a little on Piccirillo and Tim Gilboy. The center, Oikowski, 158, will not have much advantage on Ernie Adamo.

The quarterback, Bill Cleary, 155, will shape up nicely with our Joe Gender. At the halves will be Joe Knapp, 160, and Joseph Omgrassor, 163, and will have it over Roberts and Castrucci for weight. The full-back, Earl Housholder, 171, will be not quite as heavy as Lindy Lauro, who tips the scales near the 187 mark.

In event of good weather no doubt a fine New Castle crowd will follow the "Red Hurricane" to the valley tonight. The team is making the trip to Beaver Falls by bus, leaving from the stadium.

The change in the date which was originally set for Friday night was made when it was found that Geneva had previously scheduled a game for home for Friday night. The local school officials then agreed to the Thursday date.

Probable Lineups

Following are the probable starting lineups:

New Castle	Beaver Falls
Cennamo	L. E. Davidson
Kulnis	L. T. Parkas
Gilboy	L. G. Tribler
Adamo	C. G. Oikowski
Piccirillo	R. G. Ross
Castrucci	R. T. Groom
Zarrilla	R. E. McKee
Gender	Q. B. Cleary
Roberts	L. H. Knapp
Ciazza	R. H. Omgrassor
Lauro	F. B. Housholder

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Some of these days when Wendell Morrison, the Fairmont avenue basketball and baseball star finds time, he should gaze into a mirror and remark: "Gee, that's Billy Conn looking at me." Monday night from our second row seat we had a good chance to study Billy's phizog, and time and again, we came to the conclusion that if Billy Conn has a "double" he is Morrison who, like Billy, is a tall young man with hair somewhat curly.

There were many New Castle fans at the fight. We saw one delegation headed by Wes Davy, another by Tommy Leach, and perched in Box A was Phil Greer. Tommy Leach had his crowd. Later on we met Sam Left, brother of the late Saul; All Dairyman of Meadville, and others at the Seventh Avenue hotel, which Sam operates.

Helping on the fight as a deputy was B. J. Biondi, who saved some New Castle folk trouble by securing advance reservations. He directed the writer, Charlie Landolt and P. G. Greer to fight headquarters in the William Penn and later we met some of the country's leading sports scribes.

Talking of the radio, Sam Taub, if we recollect right, was a writer on the Morning Telegraph when we pounded brass on some Gotham newspapers. Jack Hollister formerly worked in this city as a newspaper man, graduated from the Pittsburgh ranks to a sports commentator.

At one gate we collided with Johnny Steinbrink, the law and order man of Alderman Biondi's court and a little later called Sergeant James Steiner of the city police department seated in a ringside seat alongside a Johnstown, Pa., policeman.

Johnny Fundy, one of the judges, has fought in this section, his last engagement having been against Babe Picato in Ellwood City some years ago. Irish Chick Rodgers never fought here but was a good card in Pittsburgh. Red Robinson fought Bat Terry and has third-manned here. He refereed the main bout.

Johnny Ray, manager of Billy Conn, fought here once. Bat Terry and the writer promoted the show in Humbert hall. Patsy Brannigan was his opponent. Patsy got the decision. Ray was brought here and handled by the late Red Mason, who also managed Harry Greb and others.

Claim Check Made

Out For Man Who Was Not On Payroll

(International News Service)
BUTLER, Pa., Sept. 28.—The jury hearing charges against Slippery Rock State Teachers college president, Dr. Charles S. Miller, and a discharged bursar, David V. Ketterer, today weighed testimony that a payroll check made out to a man who never worked at the school was deposited to the account of the bursar's wife.

The payroll check for $35 was issued to Dan Dailey of New Castle, J. Chesney Stewart, assistant cashier of the Butler National bank, testified. He said it was placed in Mrs. Ketterer's account from which the ex-bursar could also draw.

Dr. Miller and Ketterer are charged with conspiracy, nonfeasance, misfeasance and malfeasance in office. Ketterer faces an additional count of fraudulent conversion.

Likes Yanks To Defeat Reds In Baseball Classic

Lawton Carver, INS Sports Editor Strings Along With New York Yanks

REDS MUST FIRST WIN LOOP FLAG

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Looking ahead to the world series: "He ought to be out of the hospital in a few days, but, of course, we can't tell whether or not he will pitch in the series," said Ed Barrow, head man of the New York Yankees, speaking of Lefty Vernon Gomez, who is laid up with a strained side. However, the Yankees probably could struggle along without Gomez if they must—and still have enough starting pitchers on the bench to use some of them for relief if necessary. Red Ruffing is expected to hurl the opening game here at the Yankee Stadium next Wednesday and after that it may be any one of a half dozen others, all ranging from good to excellent.

Lines Will Form

Mr. Barrow also revealed today that 34,000 seats—20,000 at $3.30 and 14,000 at $1.10—will go on sale on the morning of the opening game and again on the morning of the second game Thursday of next week. These pew-holders will be the people you read about every year at world series time. Those people who begin forming a line 96 hours in advance, swathed in blankets, equipped with portable kitchens, folding cots and unlimited patience.

A good bet for the outstanding star of the series would be outfielder Joe DiMaggio with Second Baseman Joe Gordon a good second choice. . . or Catcher Bill Dickey, or Third Baseman Red Rolfe, or, in the reasons the Yankees are such top-heavy favorites over the Cincinnati Reds, if they come through as expected, or the St. Louis Cardinals if the latter still score an upset. The latter two are wearing themselves out winning the pennant. . . the Yanks are resting.

Will Start Aces

If the Yanks manage to win the opening game, with Ruffing against Paul Derringer or Bucky Walters, the Red aces, the champions will be such red hot favorites by that time that the betting will promptly cease. . . except on the possibility of a Yankee sweep. If the Reds (we're still assuming they will nose out the Cards) take the opener it will make it more interesting and many would give them a chance to come through.

It is also interesting to note that the Yankees have been stopped this season, and stopped rather abruptly a couple of times—and it could happen in this series which would make one of the greatest upsets in the history of the so-called national pastime. Anyway, it won't be long now, if they will just finish up that National League race.

High Band To Go

To Beaver Falls

Principal Frank L. Orth, of Senior high school, today announced that the New Castle high finely uniformed band of some 100 pieces will make the trip tonight to Beaver Falls for the New Castle-Beaver Falls game at Reeves Stadium. The band will be supervised by the director, Joseph Replegie.

The trip will be made in three buses and will also include the eight cheerleaders, four girls and four boys.

The band will make one other trip with the team this year, going to Massillon, O., on the night of October 27, Mr. Orth announced. It is probable that a special train will carry the team, band and fans to Massillon over the Pennsylvania railroad.

One of the most interesting letters came from Rudolph Malandro, of Hamilton street. "It's unfair to say that the Sox are hitting better than the Yanks. It's true, however, that they were batting about five points higher. But, if you look at the number of homers, you'll find that the Yanks are better equipped. Remember it takes three singles and only a homer to score a run. Yet, who will win the world series and who will cop the pennant next year is just a matter of opinion. Time will tell," the reader points out. . .

As a team, the Sox are batting better than the Yanks. I perused the records only today and find that the Beantowners lead in this respect. As home run hitters, the Yanks have a greater number on their roster. Fox and Williams will hit as many, if not more, as any two Yankee players. Combined, the two Sox in question have poled out

Gomez Feared Lost to Yanks

Vernon (Left) Gomez, who had been scheduled to pitch the second game of the world series for the New York Yankees, has his temperature taken by Nurse Julia Donovan in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York. He was confined to his bed after he tore a muscle loose from his twelfth rib during a post-pennant game with Washington. (Central Press)

Spotti Hopes To Defeat 'Smokey'

Cecil Boy Would Like Nothing Better Than To Vanquish Champ

SEVERAL ELLWOOD BOXERS ON DOCKET

Indications point to one of the classiest scraps in amateur history for a year or more when Cecil's up-and-coming Pete Spotti tackles Smokey Robinson, amateur lightweight champion of the United States, in the Arena, Monday.

Spotti is no flash in the pan. He demonstrated his fitness to take on a champion when he defeated Regis O'Brien, the curly-lock kid from McKeesport and the rugged Nick Retardo.

A year ago Robinson's chief rival was Frankie Moran of this city. However, he always had an edge on Frankie and when Smokey emerged as the champion in Philadelphia, emerged as the champion.

In the view of the easy match given Robinson, because his regular opponent did not appear and he faced a substitute at the last show, it was decided to provide him with the toughest foe possible and Spotti was selected.

There is no questioning the ability of the Cecil, Pa., fighters. They have fought not only consistently here but in other rings and fans may anticipate some good scraps when they climb into the ring.

Murray vs. Moran

Billy Murray of Pittsburgh and Frankie Moran, New Castle, should put on a good scrap. Andy Wertz, Youngstown, has sent word he will try for a knockout over Chuck Arnett, West Pittsburg, to wipe out Arnett's win recently.

Sammy Secrete, a good Pittsburgher, will take on Johnny Como, champion 147-pounder of the Erie district. This ought to be a swell fight with Secrete providing the science and Como the dynamite.

Benny Bartle, Ellwood's lightweight, will fight Milt Taylor of Pittsburgh. This should be a blow-for-blow fight because Taylor defeated Benny by a knockout recently and naturally the Tubetown boy wants to win Monday.

Ambers Trying To 'Duck' Bout With Armstrong

Herkimer Lou Intends To Get Married; Henry Armstrong Can Wait

UNIQUE SITUATION IN BOXING GAME

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—One of the bitterest boxing feuds in New York pugilistic history is about to be resumed with a strangely assorted cast that includes welterweight champion Henry Armstrong, lightweight champion Lou Ambers, who also is the No. 1 welter title challenger, the New York boxing commission, promoter Mike Jacobs, and Daniel J. Cupid, the oldest match-maker of them all. It also may be that we are about to see confirmed the suspicion of long-standing that Armstrong is burnt out and over the peak as a great fighter. This point will be proved or temporarily disproved, as the case may be, on November 1—if the aforementioned matchmaker Cupid doesn't interfere.

Briefly, Ambers agreed when signing to fight Armstrong for the latter's lightweight title a few weeks ago that if he (Ambers) won he would challenge Armstrong for the welter crown on Nov. 1. One reason for this unique arrangement was to prevent Ambers from claiming both the lightweight and welter crowns in event of a victory by him. He won, but now is trying to get out of the welter challenge. His excuse is imminent matrimony.

Armstrong Insists

It's all a little confusing that a champion—Armstrong in this case—should be insisting that a challenger attempt to take his title away from him, except that the bout would draw a good gate, the match was made as protection for Armstrong's welter crown as mentioned in the foregoing, and Armstrong's handlers are quite confident he can beat Ambers at the heavier weight. He barely missed before, despite the fact that he was penalized five rounds for low punches.

Anyhow, Promoter Mike Jacobs threatens to sue Ambers unless he goes with the match, and the boxing commission has called Ambers in for a hearing. Promoter Jacobs pointed out that several fighters have married just prior to important engagements in the ring, and an October wedding should not interfere with an Ambers' challenge in November.

"How do you like that?" Mike asked. "They want to postpone the fight on account of a wedding. Let 'em postpone the wedding, and quit interfering with my business."

Church Golfers To Dine Tonight

The New Castle Church golfers will gather at the Highland U. P. church basement at 6:30 o'clock tonight for the annual fall banquet of the league. Fulton Magill, league president, will introduce the toastmaster, Attorney Robert Wallace, following the serving of the meal.

Quite a nice speaking program has been arranged. The championship First Presbyterian church team will be the honored guests. The Presbyterians will be presented with a very lovely trophy cup donated by the Perelman company. Joe Fisher, captain of the championship team, will accept the cup for his mates.

Must Meet Pirates

Even if the Reds should lose today, they still will hold a game and a half lead with only three games left to play with the helpless Pirates while the Cards are struggling with the Cubs.

In such an event, the Reds would need only two victories over the Pirates even if the Cards should sweep their three-game set with the Cubs.

If today's game should be rained out, it would be a body blow to the Cards for then the Reds would carry a 2½ game lead into the Pirate series and would need only one more victory to insure the pennant.

The Reds haven't shown anything in the current crucial test with the Cards that would cause the Yanks to stay awake nights worrying about the outcome of the world series.

They won the first game, 3-1, when Billy Myers hit a homer with two aboard in the second inning. And that was the last semblance of a Cincinnati attack. In the remainder—

Cincinnati Needs Victory Today Over Cards To Cinch League Flag

PIRATES LOSE TWO TO CHICAGO

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Like my maiden Aunt Emma's biscuits, the Reds are failing ingloriously to rise to the occasion like a coming champion should.

They are backing into the National league pennant in a manner calculated to cause no end of headaches among the Yanks who foresee a decided slump in world series gate receipts due to the poor showing of the Reds against the never-say-die Cardinals.

The Reds can hardly lose even if they should blow their final game with the Cards today as supinely as they dropped that one yesterday. Let's consider the possibilities and probabilities for a moment.

With 20 victories to show for their last 24 games, the Cards are making a gallant bid but their cause is well-nigh hopeless. Everything, including the odds, and maybe the weather, is against them.

Still on the pan:—In comparing the Red Sox with the Yanks, a few columns back, this typewriter jockey must have pierced many tender spots. Charge General

Von Fritsch Slain

By Hitler Guards

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
 International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Sept. 28.—If a full and detailed report received in Paris by a German emigre news service today can be believed, Col. General Baron Werner Von Fritsch, one-time commander-in-chief of the German army, was murdered by Adolf Hitler's guards on orders from the fuhrer himself.

Since the German high command announced that Von Fritsch was "killed in action" near Warsaw, there have been repeated rumors that the benomolized general was "liquidated" because of his opposition to Hitler's policies.

Stock Market Slightly Lower

Early Selling Shows Losses; Recovery Is Made Later In Morning

By LESLIE GOULD
 International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The stock market worked lower today in a carry-over of selling from yesterday's late irregularity.

Starting lower, leaders showed losses running to more than three points in blue chips before support developed. Losses were reduced in the second hour when firming tendencies developed.

Allied Chemical was the biggest loser, dropping more than three points before support appeared. DuPont and Air Reduction came back after first hour weakness.

Steel shares started with losses running to more than a point in Bethlehem but pared these to fractions.

Rails met heavy profit-taking. Losses ran to two points in Union Pacific.

Chrysler regained most of a loss of more than two points. General Motors sagged. Fall of more than two points in Case was outstanding in farm implements.

Utilities were fractionally lower. There was considerable pressure on coppers, losses exceeding a point. Elsewhere losses were in the majority, as in aviation, oils and rail equipments.

There were a few strong spots, including the rubber shares and Westinghouse in electricals.

WALTERS FAILS

TO TAME CARDS,

REDS LOSE AGAIN

The Reds made only four hits off Mort Cooper in the second game, and 18 innings of the next two games, they failed to score a run. Twenty-four scoreless innings isn't anything for a prospective champion to boast about.

Walters Beaten

The Reds made only four hits off Mort Cooper in the second game, and 18 innings of the next two games, they failed to score a run. Twenty-four scoreless innings isn't anything for a prospective champion to boast about.

And the Reds led with their ace, Bucky Walters, but the Cards trumped him with a run in the second, two more in the fourth and Terry Moore's 16th game-clinching homer in the ninth. Bucky made a good bid for his 28th victory, but it could have been much better, and still failed with such a futile attack behind him.

Today the Cards probably will come back with Curt Davis, who is routed in the first game. If not, it will be the rookie southpaw, Max Lanier. The Reds, of course, will shoot with the veteran Paul Derringer in an attempt to end it all.

The Cubs moved back into third place over the idle Dodgers by two percentage points by taking two 10-inning affairs from the Pirates, 9-8 and 9-5. Buck Newsom registered his 19th victory for the Tigers by trimming the Browns, 7-4 and the Indians downed the White Sox in a matinee game, 5-2, and again at night, 7 to 5.

Barrett Will Aid
Reid In Accident
Prevention Plans

Is Named Branch Chairman For
Ellwood City In Red Cross
Program

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 28.—Geo. Reid, chairman of Accident and Prevention of the Lawrence County Chapter of the American Red Cross, has named W. Boyd Barrett, as branch chairman of this service.

Mr. Reid is formulating final arrangements for a very careful check on all disaster hazards in the county. Mr. Barrett will have the cooperation of Superintendent Bell of the Ellwood City schools and the entire campaign will be carried on the assistance of the school children. Mr. Barrett is well fitted to take up these duties and the chapter feels a very careful check is to be made in the Ellwood City branch.

It is interesting to note that this year ten million families will be reached by this Red Cross service throughout the entire jurisdiction and it is hoped to reduce a number of the accidents which each year claim more than 30,000 lives.

Joe Piper Home

Nothing Saved From Wiley Hill
Residence Burned To Ground
Wednesday Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 28.—Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the home of Joe Piper located on the Ellwood-New Brighton road, at Wiley Hill, on Wednesday evening between 11 o'clock and midnight.

The frame dwelling consisted of two stories containing five rooms. The entire family was away when the fire occurred. Neighbors noticed the blaze and notified the local fire department, who responded but were unable to accomplish anything because of the great headway gained by the fire.

Political Party Leaders Stirred By Voter Laxity

People With Balance Of Power Stayed At Home In Primary, Leaders Claim

HOPING TO AROUSE NOVEMBER INTEREST

By EVERETT C. GERRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Sept. 28.—The primary stay-at-home vote today became the source of deep concern for the state committee chairmen of both political parties.

Stirred by the fact that hundreds of thousands of citizens eligible to participate didn't bother to vote, party leaders were well advanced with plans to bring out the ballot at the November election.

Starting November Campaign

Primary returns gave strong indication that the people who hold the balance of power stayed away from the polls. Consequently, state committee chairmen were busier weeks earlier than usual in drawing battle lines for November.

Republican State Chairman James F. Torrance made no effort to conceal his disappointment over the slender primary turnout. Voters' disinclination to overlook the Democratic state committee's endorsement of Dean Herbert F. Goodrich for the supreme court nomination was a source of keen disappointment to party leaders.

Dr. Goodrich, dean of the University of Pennsylvania law school, captured the nomination, but lost in Allegheny, Lackawanna and 18 additional counties to Judge Sara Soffel of Pittsburgh, who sought the nomination on both tickets.

Torrance has taken an active hand in the campaign mapped for the various county leaders, who were instructed to urge strenuously the election of a Republican for every office.

Hope To Whip Up Interest
The Democrats were no less apprehensive about the need for whipping up interest in behalf of their slate in the November 7 election.

Chairman Lawrence sought to determine why only a fragment of the party's strength was represented at the primary polls. In Philadelphia, he pointed out, only 27 per cent of the vote materialized in ballots. The vote in some sections of the anthracite region was a blow to Democratic partisans.

Dissatisfaction among some Republican county leaders over lagging patronage was blamed in part for the poor showing. In the forefront of the movement to revive interest in November is the Pennsylvania State Council of Republican Women.

Women in scores of communities seek to speed up registration and persuade members of their sex to go to the polls. Women, perhaps more than men, were interested in the primary because of the presence of Judge Soffel.

Mrs. Humbert Borton Powell, council leader, said, however, that in spite of Judge Soffel's defeat members of the council will support Judge Marion D. Patterson of Blair county, who ran away with the nomination.

The women are prepared to take an active role in the fall campaign, prior to the council's 17th annual convention in Harrisburg.

Absence of bitterness in the primary made the task of building harmony easier than in any election in years, leaders of both parties were agreed.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Pennsylvanians are far from the slaughter in Europe. But they have a slaughter of their own to worry about.

Highway accidents killed 2,500 Pennsylvanians last year.

Each year, 40,000 are killed in this country by automobiles.

That is twice the rate for England; 5 times for that of Italy.

Pennsylvania has sensible automobile laws.

Already this year the death rate has dropped 20 per cent.

Safety directors and highway police can't do it all.

The driver and the pedestrian must co-operate.

There will be fewer hours of daylight in the next six months.

Weather conditions will be less favorable for driving.

Drive more carefully and prevent an accident.

In the case of Jacob Marlin against Elias Jacobs, Marlin has filed an answer at the prothonotary's office to a rule asked by Jacobs to show cause why a judgment should not be opened. The case grows out of a dispute over commissions on the sale of furniture.

Another registration of voters will be held at the office of Alderman Brice on North street on next Saturday, the first being held on Wednesday. The law requires the county commissioners to set two registration days in the city at a place other than the court house. Registrations can still be made at the court house anytime.

County Commissioner A. R. Turner and welfare director took a couple more patients to Torrance hospital yesterday. They report that the institution is greatly crowded. They saw some of the Lawrence county patients, who are not showing much signs of improvement.

The return board, counting the vote cast at the recent primary, has had to send out for a number of ballot boxes, owing to clerical errors of boards and the failure of the boards to separate the Republican and Democratic ballots cast on the local option issue. Only the total returns were shown on the return sheets. The boxes so far brought in are the fourth of the First ward, third of the Fourth ward, third of the Seventh ward, Wampum borough and first Mahoning.

It is indicated that other boxes will have to be brought in. The errors of the boards necessitate the recount of all the ballots. The board has not secured any totals yet owing to errors in election boards. No evidence of any irregularities have been found, the mixups being of a clerical nature.

In the cases of the General Home Improvement company against Elmer J. Martin, sheriff's interpleaders have been filed by the Mervis Furniture company of Ellwood City and the Art Wallpaper company by Max A. Groden of this city, who claim portions of goods levied upon.

An issue will be framed to determine ownership.

A new plot book of the different plots of land in the county has been prepared in the register and recorder's office. The old one was badly torn and some of the names were partially illegible. It may surprise some to know that there are some 859 plots recorded in the county.

Many of these are subdivisions in and around New Castle, and Ellwood City. There are also plots recorded in New Wilmington, Bessemer, Wampum, Enon, South New Castle boro, and in some of the villages and townships. There are also plots of railroad and industrial property in different sections of the county.

A schedule of expenses in connection with the recent primary election has been prepared by County Controller Frank W. Hill. It shows $370.94 expended for ballots, $108.40 for advertising and $92 for delivery of ballots. Expenses of election boards and incidentals in the City of New Castle, was as follows: Officials pay, $1,925.90; house rent, $310; booth expense, $76; cleaning, $7; storage, $53.50; janitor service, $2.50; constables pay, $200. Total for the city, $2,574.90.

Ellwood City expenses were as follows: Officials, $550.76; rent, $50; booths, $18.50; storage, $8; constables, $30. Total, $457.26.

Boroughs, other than Ellwood: Officials, $234.37; rent, $10; booths, $9; storage, $3; constables, $25; moving equipment, $5. Total, $336.37.

Expense in townships was as follows: Officials, $1,605.53; rent, $280; booths, $47; cleaning, $11; storage, $24; box rent, $6; constables, $165. Total, $2,138.53.

Number Taking Civil Service Exams Tops All Former Records

Employment Board At Harrisburg Says 95,560 More Persons Want in Service

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 28.—The civil service examinations to be held Sept. 30 and Oct. 7 will be the largest ever conducted in Pennsylvania, the employment board of the Department of Public Assistance reported today.

A total of 95,560 persons have applied for permission to take the examinations in nine cities. For the first tests given by the board in January of 1938, a total of 61,115 applied and 20,455 filed applications for the June, 1938, examinations.

The board expressed gratification over the heavy response, pointing out that the quality of the people obtained to fill jobs will be high in direct proportion to the number who take the examinations.

"The duty of administering the various forms of relief is one of the most vital performed by the commonwealth," the board said. "The type of service furnished depends to a large degree upon the quality of employees chosen to carry on the work of the state office and the 57 county boards of public assistance."

"In line with its firmly established policy of supplying the best possible grade of employees, to the end that the taxpayers of Pennsylvania will get the most for their money, the board did an ambitious job of recruiting for the forthcoming examinations."

"We are happy to say that because of the large number who have applied, it appears to be virtually certain that adequate lists of well-qualified and high calibre people will be obtained to take the civil service jobs in every county."

Teachers Tenure Act Decision By Judge

BEAVER, Pa., Sept. 28.—Dismissal of Mrs. Florence Davis as teacher in the Darlington schools for 19 years, is not a violation of the state teachers' tenure act, Judge Henry H. Wilson held Wednesday, dismissing a writ of mandamus against the consolidated school boards of Darlington township.

The court said the tenure act will not apply to new joint districts until after the first selection of teachers.

Mrs. Davis was refused a contract this year when the two districts combined and erected a new building. When the teaching staff was reduced from ten to eight, Mrs. Davis and Louise Mae Stern were dropped.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, head-aches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Barn Is Burned Near Grove City

GROVE CITY, Sept. 28.—A barn with all its contents, including three cows and a horse, was destroyed, and two local homes were slightly damaged in the severe electrical storm early yesterday. The barn was owned by William Heasley, in Pine township near Hallville, where the loss was estimated at nearly $4000.

When Mr. Heasley reached the barn it was a mass of flames, which consumed a quantity of farm machinery and grain, in addition to the livestock. Local firemen could accomplish nothing.

The same lightning storm tore a radio aerial from the home of H. O. White, West Main street, and ignited the roof of the James Linnen home, North Center street. Firemen, again called out to the Linnen home, extinguished the flames with little damage.

Plans Discussed For Bird Show By County Garden Group

Arrangements Are Started By Committee Appointed By Forum President

Wednesday night a bird show committee appointed by the Lawrence County Garden Forum met in the home of Mrs. Harold Ferver to make arrangements for the Lawrence County Garden Forum's bird show which is held every other year.

The committee consists of Mrs. H. O. Sturdevant, forum president; Mrs. H. H. Ferver, East Side Garden club; John Robinson and George Miles of the Men's Garden club, and the members of the New Castle Junior Garden club.

No definite time or place have been decided for the event as yet.

Each club in the forum will be asked to display as well as other organizations in the county.

The two previous bird shows were held in Orr's hall and the George Washington junior high gymnasium and were very successful. It is hoped that through the experience gained by the two previous bird shows, this show will be even more of a success.
